

Elizabeth and Alexandria

I see my mother's face picture perfect
in an ancient cameo

Porcelain enameled
with the gentle fishers of her latter years

My daughter
wearing her likeness proudly pinned
to her dark blouse breast

Women
born to their times
so much alike
their smiles echo love